RACE RIOT AT COFFEYVILLE, KANSAS

NEGROE'S ATTACK ON GIRLS CAUSE MOB TO STORM JAIL

Troops Called When Frenzied Men Attempt to Sieze Negroes Held As Suspects—Prisoners Were Spirited Away—Gang of Boys Start Trouble In the Black Quarter and Get the Worst of It—Martial Law Declared—Town Has An Unsavory Reputation.

Race war broke out at Coffeyville, Kansas, late Friday when a mob of white persons, who had besieged the city jail in an effort to seize three negroes arrested in connection with an assault on two white girls, attempted to invade the Negro quarter.

The whites were repulsed and at least three persons were shot.

The armed clash came after a group of white youths had kicked in a door of a hardware store and obtained arms and ammunition. About 100 shots were exchanged.

Martial law was proclaimed and guards placed over every hardware store in town. Steps were begun to disarm all citizens.

A guard was thrown about the Negro quarter as a result of threats that homes would be burned.

Negroes had apparently anticipated invasion of their district as they immediately opened fire when the white mob appeared.

The clash came after a group of youths had shattered practically every window in the City hall and failed in several attempts to storm the jail.

Troop B, Kansas National Guard unit stationed there called out a few hours before, arrived shortly after the shooting occurred and for the time being assumed control of the situation. The men are carrying full war equipment and wearing steel helmets.

The crowd soon returned, some bearing shotguns, and more trouble was feared.

A fire hose strung thru the City hall as an aid in repulsing the attack was cut to shreds and carried away.

Windows in several downtown business establishments were shattered by the flying bullets.

Tear gas guns fired into the crowd apparently served only to increase the anger and feeling against the Negroes which stood at fever heat thruout the day and was fanned into a flame.

Other Negroes appeared on the scene before the two had risen from the street and immediately opened fire.

William Waddle, 17, white a printer's apprentice, was taken to a hospital with buckshot in his legs and a revolver wound in his hand.

The youth was in the line of fire but was not accompanying those who had started into the Negro region.

The sight of the youth's blood brought another outburst of threats and more than 100 men and boys left the downtown district with cries for more guns.

Urged on by older members, boys between 19 and 21 years old let loose a barrage of rocks at the City Hall and the crashing of glass from the windows was interspersed with cheers from onlookers.

An effort was made to obtain gasoline for the intention of firing the City hall in an effort to force an entrance to the jail. All filling stations were closed, however, and this was abandoned.

The boys returned to the building with a replenished supply of stones and the assault was resumed with vigor.

No effort was made by the officers and guards inside the building to halt this and an American flag which waved from a front window of the hall was greeted with jeers.

Five young men were arrested charged with breaking into the hardware stores and looting the stocks of guns and ammunition. Several others were disarmed and their guns confiscated.

Authorities announced that two of the Negroes, Vanges and Garvin Hardin, brothers, had cleared themselves and were released from custody.

Three units of the Kansas National Guard were called out by Governor Paulen to render assistance to civil authorities at Coffeyville.

The third suspect, Curtis Smith, a barber, was taken away on a fire truck, hidden beneath a pile of hose and rushed to an unrevealed destination. He is being held for further investigation.

MRS. MARY FRYBACH DEAD.

Mrs. Mary Frybach, widow of Laban G. Frybach, passed away Friday morning at 3:30 at her home in Kingston after a short illness with heart trouble. Mr. Frybach died November 11, 1926.

Mrs. Frybach, who was Miss Mary Prendible before her marriage, leaves to mourn her loss, one son, William and a granddaughter, Dorothy Frybach, of LaJunito, Colorado; two sisters, Mrs. Ellen Rice of St. Louis, Miss Joanna Prendible of Kingston and two brothers, Thomas, of Oklahoma, and William of Kingston.

Funeral arrangements have not as yet been completed awaiting the arrival of her son who will probably reach Kingston Sunday.

Sneeze, but Don't Sniff, English Doctor's Advice

London.—Sneezing one's way to health is the latest fad as advocated by Dr. Octavia Lewin and other physicians. "Never stifle a sneeze," she advised health visitors and school nurses at Bedford college.

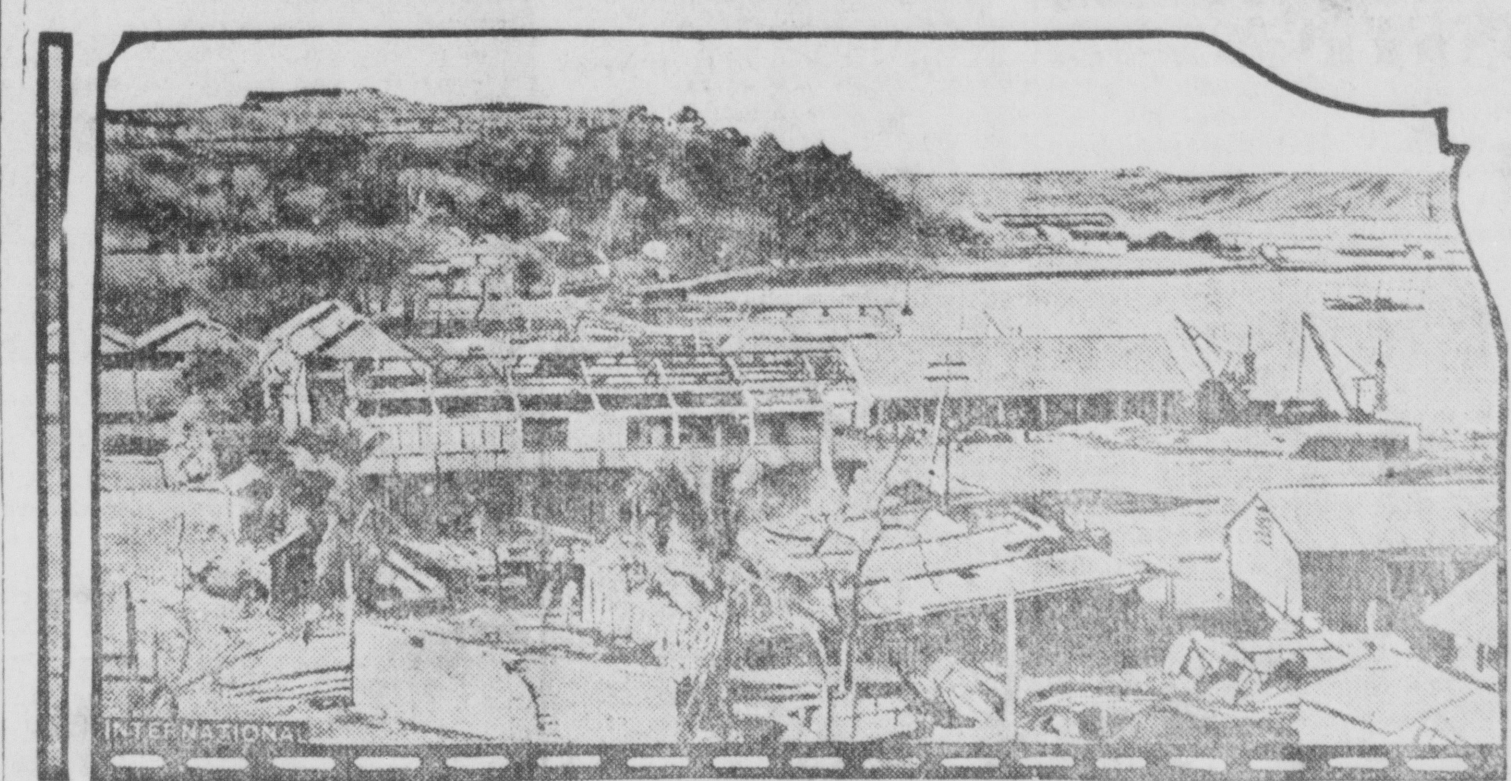

"Remember, the fundamental fact of health is sound, healthy breathing through the nose," cautioned Doctor Lewin, who continued: "Never sniff. Here is a verse to keep in mind:

"Sniffing's bad for brain and head. Sniff not—blow your nose instead."

"Lack of nasal hygiene is very largely responsible for defects of the eyes. It will be found that nearly all the children in our school who wear spectacles have clogged heads."

"Humans should take a lesson from the animals. Take the elephant. If he, with a yard and a half of nose, can keep his head clear, surely we ought to be able to do something with our children. Even the little mouse and the canary know how to sneeze."

Cleveland—Two deaths were reported and traffic was delayed Friday night as a result of a dense fog that enveloped downtown Cleveland.

Cleveland—Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton today had made no move to lodge George J. Mackay, alleged swindle ring leader in jail. This despite Mackay's reported surrender early Friday to representatives of the prosecutor's office.

Canton—As a result of the appointment of counsel, Floyd Streitenberger former city detective, will be arraigned next week on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Don R. Mellett.

Marietta—Hidden in a wooded ravine at Davis Run, West Virginia, a sheriff's posse came upon Logan Drake and his two companions who escaped from the county jail Thursday night. James Deems and Hugh Alender were captured early this morning, but Drake, alleged leader of the gang, escaped in the darkness in a hidden row boat on the Ohio river.

Urbana—Six men paid fines in Mayor C. C. Craig's court as a result of a poker party which came to an abrupt end early Tuesday when a bandit held up the five players and escaped with jewels and cash valued at more than $13,000.

James Rawlings, proprietor of the American hotel where the game was in progress, was fined $10 for permitting the men to play. Five others, victims of the masked robber, also paid $10 fines.

Barber Invents Way to Fool His Women Patrons

Seattle, Wash.—So many women harass men barbers over their belief that too much hair is bobbed that George Seaton, master barber, has invented an apron with a continuous pocket around the neck part to catch the hirsute droppings. Unseen by his patrons, there is little complaint now over the amount cut off. The idea is favored over the hair bobbing district. Seaton declares the sight of their hair dropping over the apron is too much for some women patrons and they remonstrate until valuable time is lost disquieting their fears.

Ended Long War

On February 10, 1763, the first treaty of Paris was signed. It marked the end of the old French and Indian war, which had lasted about nine years. In the end, Canada was ceded by France to England.

DEATH CALLS JOEL G. DICK OF PERRY TWP.

Was Member of New Holland
Masonic Lodge and Purity
Chapter Eastern Star.

Many relatives and friends in the community were saddened, when Joel G. Dick, well known and prosperous farmer, was taken by death, at about 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, March 15. He had been in very poor health in recent months but had not complained of feeling worse until a few hours before his death. Death followed quickly and apparently without suffering. He would have reached his 65th birthday anniversary, next month.

Mr. Dick having lived the greater part of his life in this community, was well known and loved by virtually all citizens. His marked congenial manner and kind friendly attitude won and retained hundreds of friends for him.

Having chosen farming as his life profession, he loved to be in the fields and about the premises of his farm.

He was a faithful and active member of the Church of Christ, one of the older members of New Holland Lodge No. 392, F. & A. M., and a member of Purity Chapter No. 65, O. E. S.

Besides being survived by his wife two daughters, Mrs. Inez Andrews, and Mrs. Ethel Owens, are left to mourn the loss of a father. Another daughter, Mrs. Jane Lininger, preceded him in death about seven years. Three sisters, Mrs. Julia Hyer, of Bellefontaine; Mrs. Sadie Turner and Mrs. Ella Kirk and two daughters, Aden, of Daytona, Florida, and Chauncey, also survive.

Funeral services were held at the old Dick homestead, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Andrews, where the body was taken after the death. The service was held at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon and was in charge of Rev A. L. Vandegriff, of East Liberty, a former pastor of the West Holland M. E. church, and a personal friend of the deceased. Burial was made in the family lot in the New Holland cemetery.—New Holland Leader.

Wins $100 for Eating 84 Hot Dogs, No Rolls

Newark, N. J.—Eighty-four "hot dogs" without a single roll! That's the food-swallowing record Anthony Luongo of Montclair, N. J., has chalked up for himself, and he is $100 richer than before he tackled the yards of frankfurters that passed through his jaws. The $100 was wagered at a previous "hot dog" consuming exhibition in Bloomfield, N. J.

It required two hours and fifteen minutes to accomplish the feat.

ELKS TO ATTEND SERVICES.

Circleville lodge, Order of Elks, will attend services at the Methodist Episcopal church in a body Sunday evening, March 20. Mayor George M. Fitzpatrick will be the speaker of the evening and will make an address on the subject; "Circleville and What She is to You." The Elks will meet at the home at 6:30 o'clock.

FRED POWELL'S AUTO STRIKES ANDREW STEEL

by Auto on Adelphi Pike
This Morning.

Fred Powell, of Laurelville, formerly of this city, leader of the Adelphi band, ran into and knocked down Andrew Steel on the Adelphi pike coming to this city Saturday morning.

It seems Mr. Steel, who is 70 years of age, was walking along the road when he was overtaken by the auto. Mr. Powell tried to run around him, and swerved his machine to the side of the road, but Mr. Steel ran in the same direction and was hit. Mr. Powell brought the injured man to this city and took him to the office of Dr. Howard Jones, where surgical attention was given him. He was later taken in Mader & Ebert's ambulance to the home of his sister, Mrs. George Riffle on the Adelphi pike, who lives within a stone's throw of where the accident occurred.

Various County
Offices.

Will of E. T. Tootle.

The will and codicils thereto of the late Edward Tiffin Tootle has been probated and the following bequests were made by the testator:

Leroy Tootle $8.5 acres of the Monroe W. Tootle farm, 64.5 acres of the Milton J. Tootle farm and 80.5 acres of the Andrew Hellmuth farm, and also the sum of $3,000.

To James Robert Tootle two tracts of land in Wayne township, containing 156.92 acres and $3,000. He is also given the tract of land of three acres and 28 poles purchased of Urias Waples.

To Martha Fulton Tootle Kerr two tracts of land in Wayne township, containing 156.92 acres and the sum of $3,000.

Mary Spear Tootle is given the tract of land in Wayne township described as No. 3, and containing 156.92 and $3,000.

Elizabeth Jane Tootle Parrett is given the sum of $17,000, in lieu of real estate.

The testator says that he recently attempted to lease his farm to his son, James Robert Tootle, on terms of one half of the grain, the son having purchased all testator's teams and farming implements, stock and machinery that he considered him as a partner and in view of this fact he has the right as my surviving partner to purchase this property at its appraised value.

The farm in Ross county has been occupied by his son, Leroy Tootle, on terms of paying the taxes and keeping up the repairs from year to year, therefore, no further accounting shall be required of him.

The residue of the estate not herein disposed of shall be converted into money and be divided equally among the five children. The executors are authorized to dispose of the chattel property at private sale at their discretion.

Leroy Tootle and James R. Tootle were named executors. The former having died James R. Tootle was appointed sole executor. The executor is to receive $200 and expenses.

The will is dated November 12, 1919; the codicils August 23, 1922 and August 27, 1925.

The household goods and furniture is to be equally divided among the children.

I. N. Abernethy, Wealthy Abernethy and Mary Vieth are the subscribing witnesses.

The estate is estimated to be worth $74,500 of which $42,000 is personal. William Barthelmas, George Wardell and J. F. Simkins were appointed appraisers.

Appointed Administrators

Mrs. Joel G. Dick and Carl Andrews were appointed administrators of the estate of the late Joel G. Dick by Judge Adkins Saturday. The estate is estimated to be worth $13,000 of which $3,000 is personal. Douglass Binns, J. T. Timmons and Albert Grimes were appointed appraisers.

LEVIATHAN WET SAYS RANCHER

New York, March 18.—(UP.)—Frederick Almy, millionaire Arizona ranchman, paid under protest today a fine of $635.80 at the Custom House to satisfy the government's charge that he possessed two crates of fancy liquors found in a suite on the Leviathan occupied by Almy and Arch Selwyn, New York theatrical producer.

Almy denied he owned the liquor and said he would appeal to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for a refund. He said he didn't want to go to court over the matter because he had just been married.

The former cowboy said he saw plenty of liquor drinking aboard the Leviathan and that Commodore Hartley, commander of the ship, himself witnessed drinking when the ship was at quarantine Monday night.

"What you say is illuminating," said Edward A. Barnes, assistant solicitor of the port of New York, "for the Leviathan is supposed to be a dry ship."

Prolong Period of Sire Service

Beneficial Effects of Exercise Have Been Proven by Tests.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Dairy bulls at Beltsville, Md., have been put on a daily regime calculated by specialists of the bureau of dairy industry, United States Department of Agriculture, to prolong their life of usefulness in the various breeding projects under way on the experimental farm. Systematic exercise and the feeding of sprouted oats are two of the most important features of the plan.

Advocate Exercise.

Investigations in the past have proved the beneficial effects of exercise in maintaining the health and fertility of bulls, and the practice has been consistently advocated. The feeding of sprouted oats to bulls is in line with the beneficial results this feed has shown in correcting breeding difficulties in cows and virgin heifers. Sprouted oats supply the so-called vitamin E, a shortage of which is often held responsible for abnormal functioning of reproductive organs in various kinds of animals.

The special need for determining the best methods of handling dairy bulls to maintain their potency for many years is a result of the "proved sire" idea recently brought into favor. Proved sires are those whose daughters have been tested in sufficient numbers to indicate a consistent ability on the part of the sire to transmit high production. Such proof obviously cannot be obtained until the sires are older than the average dairy bull.

Test Fertility.

Five of the bureau's herd bulls are over eight years of age and average ten and one-half years. One is fifteen years old and continues an active breeder. Several young bulls are being fed experimentally to test the effect of rations on fertility, and two older bulls are now being examined to determine the effects on fertility of excessive service, lack of exercise, and close confinement.

Bovine T. B. Eradicated at Much Increased Rate

The number of cattle tested for tuberculosis in the country under government and state supervision during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1926, was 24 per cent more than for the preceding year, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Nearly every phase of tuberculosis eradication work showed an increased activity during the year. Though the accredited-herd plan of combating the disease was conducted in all the states, general preference was given the area project which provides for the testing of all cattle in a county. Under this plan over 6,500,000 cattle were tested, or over 1,500,000 more than during the preceding year.

Of noteworthy interest in connection with the tuberculin testing under both accredited-herd and area plans was a survey to show the present estimated extent of the disease. The survey showed the probable extent of the disease as 2.8 per cent, meaning that on an average 28 cattle out of every 1,000 in the United States are tuberculous. In 1922 the estimated per cent of infection was 4 per cent.

Sweet Clover Valuable in Building Up Soils

The value of sweet clover as a green manure or soil builder is becoming more and more apparent. Those interested in soil conservation and building have had remarkable success with the use of corn, wheat and sweet clover in a two-year rotation. The inoculated sweet clover is sown in the spring on the wheat. After the wheat is harvested the clover occupies the land for the remainder of the season. The next spring it makes a rapid growth, and during the latter part of April is plowed under and the land prepared for corn.

At the Missouri College of Agriculture it has been found profitable to fertilize the land with about 100 pounds of acid phosphate to the acre. Where the phosphate is added the amount of green clover ready to turn under was about five tons per acre against three tons per acre where no phosphate was used.

FARM NOTES

The supply of good seed corn for this spring apparently will be small.

Cabbage is rich in the green material needed by laying hens. About six pounds of cabbage may be fed per hundred birds per day.

Unhulled sweet clover seed can be seeded in the winter time but if it has a germination of more than 50 per cent it is usually unsafe to seed until spring.

Most farm machinery goes to the scrap heap after it has been used only 80 to 100 days while railroads use a locomotive 25 years or more.

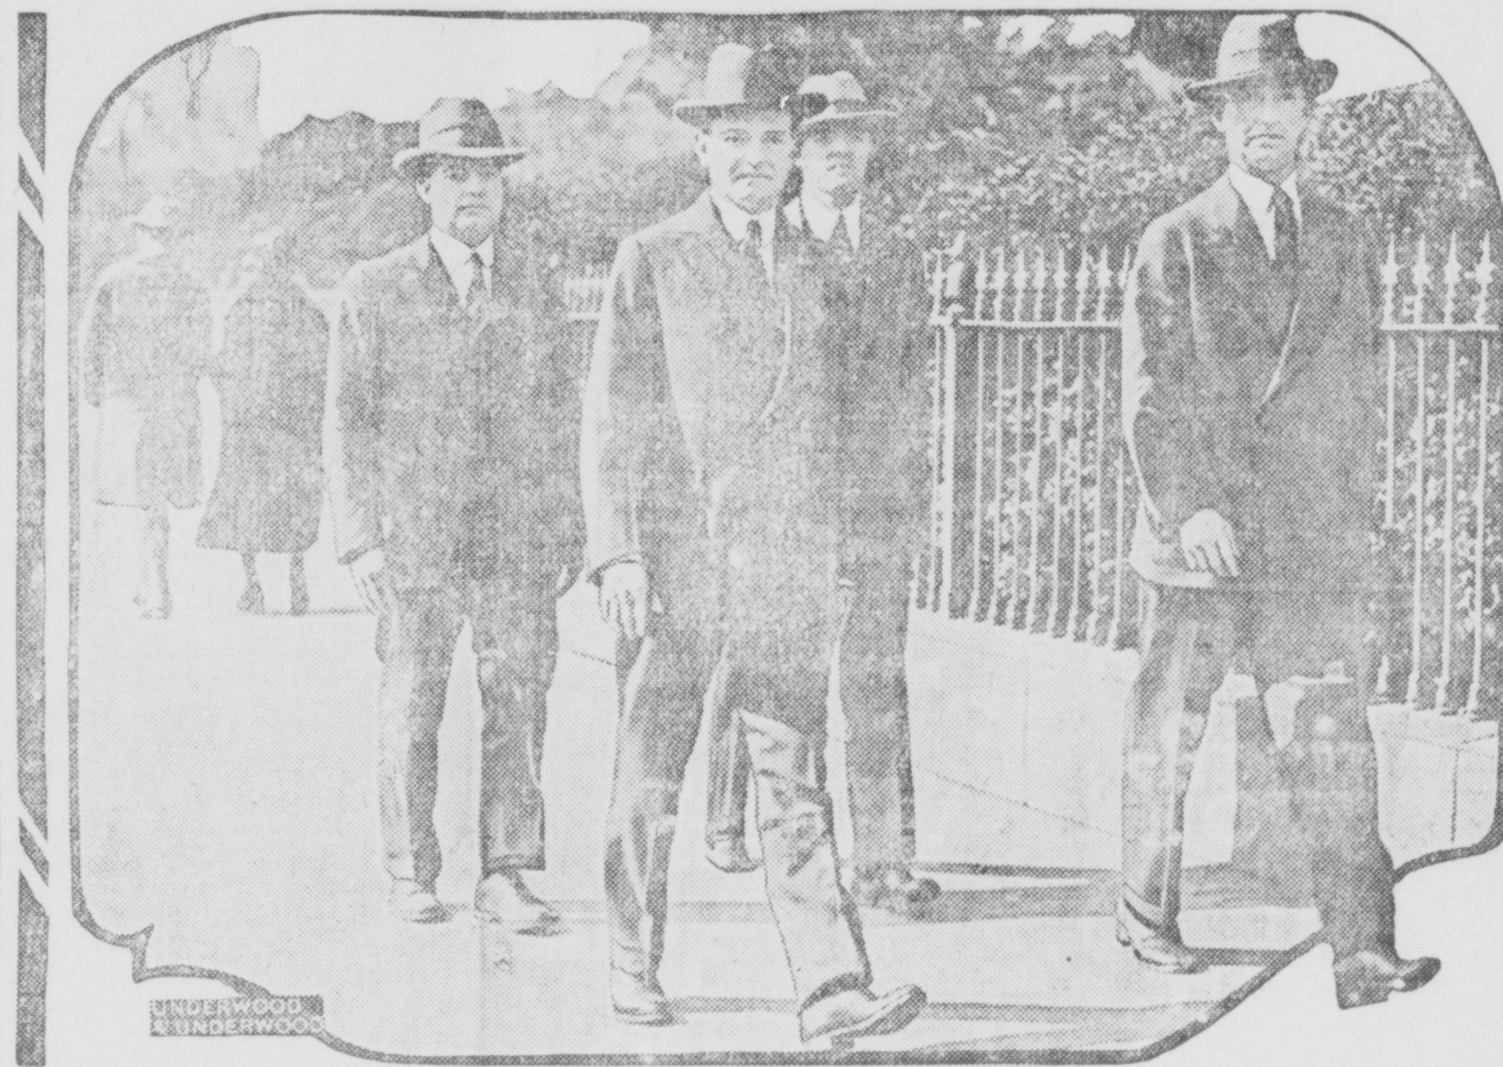

Milk or cream should be cooled to not less than 50 degrees F. within a few minutes after it is drawn or skimmed. This temperature should be maintained.

WORLD CAMPAIGN

To Be Waged Against Influenza According To United States Public Health Service.

Word of what may be an important step toward the solution of the influenza problem has just been received at the surgeon general's office of the United States public health service from Dr. Ludwig Rajchman, medical director of the health section of the League of Nations.

Health authorities all over Europe have been asked to start work on the preparation of a report for the League of Nations on the course of the present epidemic in each country, just as soon as the epidemic has subsided to the point where such research is practicable. It is hoped that by the prompt tabulation of this information the medical world will have some useful data to use in putting up defenses against the next epidemic.

It is particularly desirable to know the geographical distribution of the disease, the time order in which it appeared in different districts, and the movement of contagion from week to week. Description of the clinical types of the disease at different periods and the kind and frequency of complications as well as the ages of the fatal cases are other points on which information is desired. Last, but far from least, will be a comparison of the bacteriological findings from cases in the different countries and the measures that the health officials have found the most successful in controlling the disease.—Science Service Bulletin.

Hunt in Sheba's Land for Stolen Jewish Ark

New York.—A legend that the Ark of the Covenant, stolen by Menelik I, son of Solomon and the queen of Sheba, from Jerusalem, is in a temple in the remote fastnesses of Abyssinia is to be investigated by an expedition which left here recently.

Search will be made for trace of the secluded Jewish tribe, the Falashes, who refused to risk the Red sea passage with Moses.

The expedition, sponsored by Adventure Magazine, will hunt specimens of the black-maned lion and two rare specimens of monkey, the Gellada and the Hamadros, for the national zoological park in Washington.

Gordon MacCreagh and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rossman are members of the expedition. Reports of the trip will be made by radio.

Artificial Larynx

Invented by Briton

London.—While no positive prediction is made, the artificial larynx invented by Sir Richard Paget, London scientist, may eventually be substituted in the throats of men who have lost their voices through wounds or disease. The device has amazing possibilities.

When it was first exhibited at a medical clinic, Sir Richard made it say "Hello, London! Are you there?" "My God, I love you," and other sentences.

Further, by being delicately manipulated the instrument simulated various infections and accents like cockney and French and the sound of a boy with a bad cold.

The invention is constructed with a series of tubes containing organ reeds.

STOCK DEALERS ELIMINATING THE MIDDLEMAN

An Enthusiastic Meeting of Stock Feeders and Producers Friday Evening.

The Pickaway County Farm bureau entertained the livestock dealers of this and adjoining counties here Friday. A tour of the country was made during the day, visiting farms and in the evening a banquet was held at the Methodist Episcopal church. Covers were laid for eighty-six guests.

C. B. Denman, of Farmington, Missouri, president of the National Livestock Producers' association, told of the efforts of his organization to shorten the road between the range country and corn belt feed lots. He cited experience in shipping more than 11,000 head of feeder cattle from western Texas into northern mid-west states, including Ohio.

Cattle brought in this manner came from ranches averaging more than 100,000 acres in size. Mr. Denman told the cattle men, by pooling orders for cooperative purchase, the so-called small feeder of Ohio could purchase on a large scale from ranchers who are equally anxious to sell a large part of their supply to a single buyer he pointed out.

The cooperative buyer pool will allow the bringing in of high quality, uniform fresh stock and avoid the extra handling at one or more terminal markets by bringing them directly to the feeder.

F. G. Ketner, secretary of the National Livestock Producers' association, told of the climb of his association, the pulmotor had to be used to keep life in the concern at the start. It started as a weak baby, but it is now on its feet, and is now one of the major concerns in the handling of live stock at Pittsburgh Union stock yards. I want to tell you right now that the credit for its success belongs to the men and the groups back home and you done your work well.

If every livestock feeder and producer in Ohio would organize and use collective effort, something would bound to be accomplished, but we must be backed with constructive effort and suggestions on the part of the livestock feeder.

I am optimistic, but the headway we have already made at Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Cincinnati and the support given us by livestock shippers leads me to believe that our future looks very bright.

The man with five hogs to sell has just as much of a chance as the man with five carloads, thru the pooling or cooperative arrangement. The Credit association and the Federal Land banks have been of great assistance to us. Without them I do not know how far we would have gotten. We have eliminated the middleman and the profits made by the latter. We are now at first base and we expect in another year to make home run. We have found that the rugged western cattlemen are a high type of men and we can fully trust them.

Among those present were; Fulton Hyde, of Frankfort, president of the Ross county Farm bureau; Wilby Hyde, of Chillicothe; Tom Fife, sales man of the Cincinnati Cooperative association; L. C. Briedenbach, manager Pittsburgh Produce association; Harry O'Brien, of Columbus, representative of the Country Gentlemen; C. B. Denman, of Farmington, Missouri, president of the National Livestock association; F. G. Ketner, of Columbus, secretary and treasurer of the Ohio Livestock association; H. C. Evans of Columbus, salesmen Eastern states Livestock association; Albert Kime, of Chillicothe; Albert Betts, of Frankfort; James McCollister, of Clarksburg; Homer Mace, New Holland, manager of the Hyde farm; Miss Margaret Ryan, secretary to F. G. Ketner; Mrs. H. C. Evans, of Columbus; W. S. Downs, Herman Poland and C. P. Corkwell, of Mt. Sterling; Mrs. E. C. Rector, Miss Ethel Brobst, Mrs. J. A. Dismore and Mrs. Jesse Thompson.

Forty cattle feeders made the entire trip of one hundred miles over this and Ross counties and thoroughly enjoyed the day. They were guests of E. C. Rector. The roast beef served at the banquet was baby beef raised by Homer Quillen, of Walnut township. It was killed and dressed by The Hosler Packing company.

MAY MARK SITE OF MAN'S FIRST FLIGHT

Plan to Commemorate Feat of Wright Brothers.

Washington.—A bill has been introduced in congress to provide for the erection of a monument at Kill Devil hill, Kitty Hawk, N. C., to commemorate the first time in history that man flew in a power-driven machine. This was the flight of the Wright brothers on December 17, 1903.

The site of the flight, where it is proposed to erect the monument, is on one of the "banks" of North Carolina, the narrow spits of sand that run along the coast of the state, ten to forty miles off the mainland—naked wastes that seem worlds away from the United States. A bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society based on a communication from Melville Chater describes this region.

A Graveyard for Ships.

"In motoring across the Hatteras banks from the sound to the ocean front, we had entered the greatest wreck area on the Atlantic coast," says the bulletin. "For 12 hours we passed the skeletons of what had once been ships, now blanched victims of the sea and sand, their upstanding ribs resembling files of gravestones, their forests of protruding spikes being the grisly grass of the desertlike expanse. At one point we counted 14 wrecks within 100 yards.

"Offshore lay here a careened schooner, there a crazily tilted steam freighter, the waves' white teeth gnawing at their sides in advance of the northeaster which would fling these great hulks into their last resting place among the sand dunes.

"The grim joke which says that Hatteras' chief import is wrecks haunted us throughout this 100-mile graveyard of the Atlantic.

"And now our seaward-curving beach route revealed the great apex of the banks, off which are those dreaded quicksands, the Diamond shoal. They are the more to be dreaded because off Hatteras, due to the enormous tonnage of steel hulks imbedded in the Diamond, there is a magnetic deviation sometimes amounting to 8 degrees.

"Compass correction by swinging ship—that is, laying her in different directions toward known points—was the skipper's main resource until the development of the radio and its coastal application by the United States naval communication service.

"Man's allies in this warfare against shoals and shrieking gales are Hatteras light, the Diamond Shoal lightship, and the radio compass. Since 1876 the enemy seas have eaten inland almost two miles toward the fifty-six-year-old lighthouse, whose 50,000 candle-power flare is known to passing vessels by its 48 consecutive flashes, followed by a seven-minute glow.

"The farther northward we followed the banks, the more remote and resourceless seemed the life of the people. Often it was a mere existence, as of castaways who had taken root on this two-mile width of sand bar, 40 miles offshore.

"The unchangingness of Hatteras folk is revealed in their daily usage of obsolete, often sixteenth-century words. 'My poke' for 'my pocket,' to be 'contentable' instead of willing, to demand a kiss by saying, 'Come buss me,' and to speak of one's sweetheart as 'my may,' and of a water dog as a kelpie—all this is perfectly good Shakespeare.

"Hit for 'it,' the Anglo-Saxon neuter of 'he,' is as commonly found in rural North Carolina speech as in Queen Elizabeth's letters.

"When you hear 'abashed' for 'discredited' and 'abraded' for 'nauseated,' or when a mother affectionately terms her creeping baby an insect, you sense a radical vigor of language, and by the time you learn that on Hatteras molasses, like measles, is a 'them,' you begin to suspect that your early education was neglected.

"Beyond Oregon Inlet we gained Nags Head, whose name celebrates those palmy days of professional wrecking when a hobbled horse with a lantern on his head was turned loose on the beach at night to lure ships to their doom.

"Farther along, towering 100 feet above the surrounding flatness, rose Kill Devil hill, the scene of the Wright brothers' flying experiments in 1900-1903. A former lighthouse keeper, his wife, and a coast guard are the sole remaining witnesses of those now historic events.

"Trust a woman for determining that, if those crazy Wright fellows wanted to waste their time and money, at least some of the material could be salvaged! The lighthouse keeper's wife had sewn the cloth on the first glider, and when the glider of 1902 was abandoned she thrifflily refashioned its covering into dresses for her children.

"On December 17, 1903, the Wrights having built a motor-driven plane at their workshop under Kill Devil hill, the unexpected occurred. This is what the old coast guard told us:

"They tossed a coin, and Wilbur won. 'Good luck!' I says as he climbed into the machine. And 'The Lord only knows!' he says. And then, just as I was telling myself that something heavier than air couldn't and never would fly, that machine rose up and flew 850 feet!"

SAVES SOIL FERTILITY

Sell Cream and Keep Skim Milk on Farm for Feed

The sale of cream and the keeping of skim milk on the farm for feeding to livestock is one of the best and most economical ways for conserving soil fertility and increasing farm profits, according to the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. Where whole milk instead of cream is sold the farm loses considerable amounts of soil fertility on account of the fact that the skim milk is sold off the farm instead of being fed to hogs, poultry and calves. When the skim milk is fed on the farm, the expensive nitrogen is put back on the land in the form of manures. Furthermore, the sale of whole milk deprives calves, hogs and chickens of a rich protein feed which has no equal in livestock feeding.

A truck load of 120 ten-gallon cans of milk weighs roughly 10,320 pounds. The fertility value of the nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash contained in this load of milk is $11.88, based on present prices of these fertilizing constituents in commercial fertilizers. No skim milk is left for livestock feeding and the milk must be transported every day in large, expensive trucks.

From this same truck load of milk may be obtained 1,032 pounds of cream containing 35 per cent butterfat, which weighs only one-tenth as much as the original milk. As butterfat is made up of elements not required as plant food, its sale takes nothing of fertility value from the farm. The remaining 65 per cent of this cream has the same composition as skim milk and its total fertility value is only 85 cents. All the feeding value of the skim milk is left on the farm where cream is sold instead of whole milk.

Two Excellent Rules

There are two good rules which ought to be written on every heart—never to believe anything bad about anybody unless it is positively known to be true; never to tell even that unless it is necessary.

Derivation of "Chore"

Char is an old English word meaning an odd job, a household task, and the word chore is said to be derived from char, although the plural form, chores, is commonly used, meaning small jobs, such as the routine duties of the house or stable.

HARTMAN THEATER.

The Messrs. Shubert's "The Student Prince" will again offer its altogether bewitching melodic appeal to theatergoers at the Hartman theater next Monday night, for a limited engagement of three days with matinee on Wednesday.

This story of a prince who falls in love with a lowly commoner had a peculiar grip on theatergoers. It is one of several costume musical offerings that can be said to have a universal appeal.

It would be difficult to place one's fingers on the particular moments of the operetta which interest audiences most. Many theatergoers have seen it three and four times and found in each visit an added beauty that was overlooked on the previous visit.

There is no doubt but what Sigmund Romberg has composed a delightful score. There are so many numbers, which call for encores that to call the outstanding moment of the operetta would be an offense to the beauty of another number in the operetta. "Deep in My Heart, Dear," the love duet between the prince and Kathie has tender lilt. It practically acts as the theme of the romantic environment. "Golden Days," "Just We Two," "The Student's Serenade," "To the Inn We're Marching" and "The Drinking Song" all offer something to bring the audiences' hands together to demand encores.

The company this year will be headed by Lloyd Garrett, a young tenor who has received flattering commendation from both critics and public. Ruth Williams will be "Kathie," Margaret Cantrell as the princess and David Reese as "Detleff." Others are James Heenan, Gertrude Maitland, Emmy Niclas, Carl Formes, the third generation of a family of noted singers, Robert Grieg and Gus Alexander.

There will be a student male chorus of fifty and an augmented orchestra of twenty.

DISORDER IN THE CHURCH IS SACRILEGE

The American Legion

Declares Miss Banning, the Evangelist at the Evangelical Church.

Another large, appreciative crowd was present at the Evangelical church to hear the wonderful sermon delivered by Miss Edna Banning. Delegations were present from Columbus, and Lancaster and the message was one that would cause much serious thought.

"Thou art weighed in the balances and art found wanting," Daniel 5:27. Belshazzar, king of the Chaldeans, gave a feast to a thousand of his lords and just as they reached the zenith, the king looked and saw fingers of fire tracing something on the wall. He was afraid, he had sinned, and he could not read it, but he felt that God had written something about him.

He called his soothsayers and wise men and not one of them could read the writing... Daniel was brought out but before he read the writing he preferred some charges against the king. Daniel reviewed Belshazzar's life and said, "And thou hast not humbled thine heart, thou knewest all this."

Another charge that was brought against the king was because he had brought the bowls of silver from the house of God and had drunk wine in them. Thas was a sacrilege, profaning the things of God. Disorder in the church is sacrilege.

Another charge was idolatry. How men and women are bowing down to gold and silver in this day and age! Won't join church because it will cost them so much, but they will join the lodge and give the money there. People are bowing down to themselves and to their loved ones and God said, "Thou shalt have no other Gods before me."

The last charge that was brought was this: "The God in whose hand thy breath is, hast thou not glorified." If you are not living a thankful life you, too, are weighed and found wanting. God will let you come to Him, but He will not make you. He will not drag you.

Service tonight at 7 o'clock. Sunday school tomorrow morning followed by preaching. Grand rallying of the forces Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and a "hallelujah windup" at 7 o'clock.

SAYS SUN'S SPOTS CAUSING EPIDEMIC OF INFLUENZA

Electrical Influence Stirs Bacteria to Intense Activity, Declares Scientist.

Moscow.—Sun spots are responsible for the present epidemic of influenza, in the opinion of Prof. A. L. Tchijevski of Moscow university. Professor Tchijevski is the scientist who, in a paper sent to the recent convention in Philadelphia of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, predicted another great war in 1929, due to solar agitation.

He told the correspondent that the combined electrical influence of the sun upon the earth had increased bacterial activity to the point where whole countries are affected by disease.

Most poisonous bacteria are harmless for humans, he explained, provided they are not acted upon by the sun. He believes that, by isolating the human organism from solar influence and submitting it to special electrical treatment, a quick and effective cure for influenza will be found.

He also ascribes typhoid fever, hydrophobia and the bubonic plague to sun-spot activity.

"Man," he said, "is the slave of the sun and its vast electrical power. Alike in health and sickness, his welfare and behavior are not regulated by Providence or the unstable human will, but by the sun's electro-magnetic force upon the earth, which is one common organism of which man is only a part."

"My theory, that the present spread of influenza throughout the world is due to the sun spots, is brilliantly supported by the history of epidemics for the last thousand years."

"For example, the greatest cholera plagues occurred during the periods of maximum sun-spot activity and declined sharply when the activity reached its minimum. These sun-spot periods occur regularly in cycles of 11 years."

Cattle Malady Laid to Lack of Phosphates

Sturgeon Bay, Wis.—A cattle malady that has puzzled dairymen in Door county for months has been traced to its source, according to a report from Dr. B. A. Beach of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

Lack of phosphates in the soil and consequently in the cattle feed caused all the trouble, he said.

A herd of six afflicted animals was placed at the peninsula branch of the state experimental station and fed a well-balanced ration after postmortem examination on cows that died of the trouble showed lack of phosphates and limes in their bones. This ration, in which the proper phosphates were included, brought the cattle back to full strength and weight in a few months.

The soil in northern Door county is very shallow, and due to this the phosphates in the soil were quickly used up. According to Prof. E. J. Delwiche, head of the experimental station, nine-tenths of the farms in this district are lacking in phosphates, and many other farms in Wisconsin are also showing the effects of insufficient phosphates in the soil.

Local Fancier Breeds Dogs That Do Not Bark

Bellingham, Wash.—By interbreeding with a type of Siberian sledge dogs, a local fancier has developed a species of dog that does not bark. They have a manner of howling something akin to the wolf, but when well fed forget even that vocal ability. In begging for food they try to attract attention by a whine and guttural cough.

U. S. WORRIED OVER
HELIUM SHORTAGE

Principal Source of Supply Playing Out.

Washington.—America faces a helium shortage. And helium is the unburnable gas that, although undiscovered on earth before 1895, is used to inflate dirigibles and thus keep them from exploding, as those filled with hydrogen are likely to do.

The natural gas from the Petrolia (Texas) field, which has provided helium up until now, is playing out. Since congress has authorized the construction of two giant dirigibles, each with a capacity of 6,000,000 cubic feet, to cost $8,000,000, lack of helium is worrying government officials. The navy and the United States bureau of mines are asking congress to appropriate money to pipe to the Fort Worth (Texas) helium extraction plant, built during the war, the helium-bearing natural gas of Nocona, only 25 miles from Petrolia.

The appropriation desired is $500,000, which is needed to construct the necessary pipeline and pressure plant. The bill is now awaiting action by the senate. Once the money is appropriated, it will be a matter of only six or seven months before the helium supply can be increased.

The Nocona field was discovered in 1922, but natural gas, although burned in the field, has never been drawn away. The life of the Nocona supply is about 15 years, and it will probably produce from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 cubic feet of helium a year during that time.

More helium is essential with the construction of the two giant dirigibles in view. There never was enough helium to float the Los Angeles and the Shenandoah simultaneously. With the destruction of the Shenandoah, the world's largest single store of pure helium was lost. Each of the projected giant dirigibles will need three times the helium now being used by the dirigible Los Angeles.

Early Minstrels

Jongleurs were the French wandering minstrels of the Middle ages. They celebrated in song and story the deeds of their various heroes and patrons. They varied their musical entertainments with juggling and buffoonery.

AMUSEMENTS

"Putting out an eye" was Lon Chaney's daily task during the filming of "The Road to Mandalay," his new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle coming to the Met theater Monday. Every day the actor applied a chemical to his eyeball which created a white film over it, giving the bizarre effect of a man with one eye destroyed by a knife-slash. This gruesome make-up is one of the greatest effects he has ever obtained in the way of illusion.

Lois Moran, Owen Moore, Henry B. Walthall, Kamiyama Sojin and other notable players appear in the vivid new Oriental mystery drama, which Tod Browning, creator of "The Unholy Three," directed.

Enthusiasm Valuable

Let us beware of losing our enthusiasm; let us ever glory in something and strive to retain our admiration for all that would ennoble, add our interest in all that would enrich and beautify our life.—Phillips Brooks.

Elephants of the Sea

The name "sea elephant" is applied to a very large seal (Mirounga leonina) found in the coast waters of the Southern hemisphere. It grows sometimes to a length of 20 feet, and the old male develops an elongated proboscis.

LEGAL NOTICE FOR BIDS

Sealed bids will be received by the Director of Public Service of the City of Circleville, Ohio, at his office until 12 o'clock noon on, MONDAY, APRIL 4, 1927, for furnishing 50,000 to 75,000 gallons of No. 5, 50 per cent or over Asphalt road oil, P. Schooled by Adversity

The great names upon the scroll of the world's history, its molders of men, its leaders of great causes, its inspirers of mighty revolutions, its unfolders of epoch-making philosophies, its revealers of mighty secrets in nature and art and science and morals—these have generally been cradled in the mangers of adversity.

Fifty-Fifty Chances

A certain comedian who was requiring a fresh "number" sent the following laconic note to a song-writer: "Please send new song; if good, will send check." The song-writer, however, was not doing any business on such risky terms, so he wrote back: "Send check; if good, will send new song."—The Tatler.

White, Pink, Blue
Red, Black, Green*Colors That Are in Fashion
Picture for Milady's
Wearing Apparel.

White for both sports frocks and evening gowns is emphasized in a wardrobe designed by Jeanne Lanvaine. Gold and silver decorate the evening models.

Pink and blue are combined by Le-long for a charming two-piece crepe de chine evening gown. Pale cameo pink forms the top of the jumper, the lower portion of which is widely hemmed with blue and a bias of gold. The platted skirt is made of blue crepe. The cloak for this ensemble is of gold turquois crepe, trimmed with gilded ermine.

The newest sweaters are made in "coat of mail" style of an extremely supple and light metallic material of dull gray color.

Belts made of cut crystal, alternated with silver or metal plates, are very smart. They are worn on sports dresses of navy blue, goya red or violet woolens as well as on long, light colored sweaters.

An afternoon gown of pistache green crepe de chine is trimmed with silver ribbon and gray fur, which edges the bottom of the skirt. The green velvet coat which covers it, designed by Premet, has collar and sleeves also trimmed with gray fur.

Red and blue are combined by Rodier in a charming ensemble. Diagonal red stripes make an original pattern on the upper portion of the jumper giving the effect of a vest, and they trim the ends of the scarf that forms the collar of the coat.

Evening slippers of silvered leather are now in vogue. Some have a rosy tinge, others are light lavender in hue.

Draped on the side of the waist and finished in a large graceful bow, an evening gown of gold lame is embroidered with red roses. A dash of deep liberty blue hangs in soft folds from the bow. The model is from Louis Mathieu, Paris.

For two-piece sports costumes there are a great many knitted jumpers of two shades, white and geranium, for instance, Flemish blue and white, or two tones of gray, ranging from pearl gray and slate.

Jenny uses black and rose for a dinner gown. Long points of black velvet over flesh-colored chiffon form the corsage. Two long panels of black velvet trim the skirt.

A medium light blue is used by Reboux for many of his spring hats.

Sleeves are becoming elaborately trimmed again. Some are ornamented with metal lace. Others are embroidered from the shoulder down the arm.

Among new evening coiffures is a kind of headband that fits tightly on the forehead and almost hides the eyebrows—directly derived from African customs. These are broad in front and taper away to the neck. They are made of two bands of lame, which hold barrettes of pearls.

Green, mauve or blue suede gloves exactly made to match the frock, the wrist of which is embroidered in tiny old gold beads, is the latest creation of Parisian glove makers.

Slippers in red, green and blue Japanese crepe, with a red leather heel, are very gay.

ROSS COUNTYCorn Growers and Sears-Nichols

Dead-lock on Account of Ton Price.

The deadlock between corn growers of Ross county and the Sears and Nichols Canning Company officials over contract prices for 1927 continues today—the growers intimating that they would not grow canning factory corn unless they receive $10 per ton as a delivery price and the officials of the company insisting that market conditions in the canning industry due to surplus production and an overstock of all lines will only justify a delivery price of $9 per ton.

At the meeting of canning factory produce growers held Wednesday afternoon at the Farm Bureau rooms, a contract price of $10 per ton was agreed upon by the growers as an acceptable price for the 1927 canning corn crop. — Chillicothe News-Advertiser.

SHORT STORIES OF THE BUCKEYE STATE

Indian Trails.
The Indian had his well established trails through Ohio when the white man came, but he never found it necessary to mark them. Living in the forests through generation after generation, the Indians learned to pick their way without such artificial means. Their trained eyes picked up marks that assured them sufficiently as they went hurriedly along that they were on the right path. It was almost an instinct with them.
The white man could not do this. He must have easily visible and readily recognized signs along his trail to assure him that he was moving in the right direction; hence the blazing of trees along all trails he was to use for such assurance. Oftimes the white man used an Indian trail, but when he did he marked it at once by blazing the trees. When the pioneer found a blazed trail he knew it was one made anew by white men, or an Indian trail, made use of by the white man and marked by him.
Knowledge of this fact enabled Daniel Boone on one occasion to warn his white companions of an Indian trick, but unfortunately, they would not listen to him, but rushed into an ambush prepared for them by the Indians. It was just before the tragic battle of Blue Lick on the Kentucky border. The whites came upon the tracks of the Indians who seemed to be in full retreat. But because they had evidently left marks of their direction on the trees, and had dropped articles of wear and food supplies here and there, Boone warned his comrades that the Indians were enticing them into a trap. They would not believe him, and thinking that the Indians, hard pressed, were just ahead and striving to get away, pressed on until the truth of what Boone had told them was tragically proven. The Indians never marked a trail unless they wanted their enemies to see it and follow it.—J. H. Galbraith, in Columbus Dispatch.

BILL TO PROTECT

Children is Passed By the House.

Columbus, March 18.—(UP.)—With only one opposing vote, the House late Thursday passed the Anderson bill, providing a penalty of fine or imprisonment for parents or others who leave children under 16 locked up at home alone. Vote was 92 to 1. Bill now goes to Senate.

Fine provided in the measure is $10 to $200 and the imprisonment penalty not to exceed six months.

Bill by Mrs. C. J. Ott, Youngstown, to extend the hunting season on fur bearing animals 15 days each year, was defeated by a vote of 51 to 56. The measure would have advanced the date for the open season to Nov. 1 instead of Nov. 15, as at present.

The Senate adopted a resolution which, if concurred in by the House, will kill the proposals to abandon parts of the Ohio canals, during the next two years, as asked in bills by Senators Tom of Toledo, DeArmond, of Hamilton, and Emmons, of Akron.

The resolution is for the appointment of a committee of six to study the canals with a view toward rehabilitating them for use as means of transportation. In the meantime, the canals would not be abandoned or changed at Toledo, Hamilton or Akron.

Four of One Family in Same University Class

Rio, Wis.—Four students in the university from the same family at the same time is unusual, but when they all four are in the same class it is more than unusual.

That, however, is the case at the University of Wisconsin, where two daughters and two sons of James Caldwell, lumberman of Rio, are in the freshman class.

The two girls, Mabel and Bernice are twins, eighteen years old. They are in the college of letters and science. The boys are Byron, twenty, and Donald, twenty-one. Byron is in the commerce department and Donald majoring geology.

Three other members of the Caldwell family are still in high school.

MUSIC, HIGH GRADES, GO HAND IN HAND

That there is a definite connection between the study of music and grades made in other subjects would seem to be true according to an interesting survey recently made of the high schools in Springfield, Missouri. Several interpretations of these findings are possible, says the Conn Music Center in analyzing these figures, but all of them tend to show that the student who studies music is considerably ahead in his grades than the average for the school body as a whole.

Four high schools were studied in the survey, and the average grades of those in each school who studied music were compared with the general average for that school. The increase ranged from 2.4 to 3 points on the basis of a hundred percent. Taking the average of music students for the four schools and the general average for the four schools, the difference is found to be 2.8 points in favor of the pupil who wields a bow or blows a horn.

Just what percent of an increase this represents depends upon the base of comparison accepted, but that there is an advantageous difference is clear. The percent of students in each school who are studying music varied from 18% to 22% and it is worth noting in this connection that the 18% were found in the school drawing from the wealthier section of the city while the poorest children were in the school having over one-fifth, or 21%, at work on some musical instrument.

In the selection of band and orchestra instruments, the violin held first place, being used by 47% of the pupils, cornet, second, with 25% and the clarinet and saxophone following with 17% and 11% respectively.

AMERICA LIKES BAND MUSIC BEST

Spending a million and a quarter dollars every year is the job of the mayors in three hundred and twenty-four cities in the United States which, an extensive survey has shown, are making regular appropriations in order that their citizens may enjoy the pleasure and advantages of free music, says the Conn Music Center. How this substantial sum is divided up gives a good idea of the sorts of music America likes best, as the appropriations are made by a vote of the people and public opinion decides how it shall be spent.

Seventy-nine per cent of this money—practically four-fifths of the total—goes to support bands: municipal, park, and local bands. This would appear to be the most popular form of music and is particularly well suited to outdoor concerts, Fourth of July and Memorial Day services and other celebrations. Besides, where the band is supported partly by local merchants, it is found to be a decided stimulus to trade. Boys' bands, partly or entirely supported by municipal funds, have also helped to solve "the boy problem" in many towns.

Another five per cent goes to support orchestras. Whether it is a small community orchestra or a large symphonic orchestra capable of playing standard symphonic works, the cultural value to the community is high and adds to its prestige outside. This form of music always wins the support of the most appreciative element in the city.

The remaining sixteen per cent of these cities' musical appropriation is variously spent. There are community singing, Christmas caroling, Music week, organ recitals and miscellaneous expenses in connection with organization and publicity.

MRS. M'GEE'S DEATH IS BELIEVED SUICIDE

Georgetown, March 17.—With virtually no evidence in hand to-night to indicate that Mrs. Mayme McGee, 80, Mount Orab, who died of a knife wound in her breast, was slain, Brown County authorities were faced with the probability of having to decide that she came to death by her own hand.

The belief is strengthened by the fact that a quantity of poison was found in her stomach. The examination of her stomach was made after Harry Cummins, 60, with whom Mrs. McGee went on an automobile trip to Williamsburg Saturday night, told authorities that she complained of illness from the time he met her in Mt. Orab until they went to Williamsburg and returned.

Concerning the Baby

Child experts say virtually every child is born with blue eyes. The permanent color does not appear until about three or four weeks after birth. Normal children always wear a contented expression during the first three months of life, and during the next three months they laugh aloud with great frequency. No matter how much a baby cries, it never sheds a tear until eight weeks old.

FLEMING HOUSE SOLD.

The Fleming home on Watt street has been purchased by Denny Pickens from Forest Short.

It doesn't take strength to manage a ship or a woman.

One-Piece Frock of Tokay Colored Velvet

Mary Astor, the well-known motion picture actress in "The Sea Tiger," is here shown wearing a one-piece frock of flaming tokay colored velvet. Muscat colored satin forms the vestee and collar and is also used for bands around the sleeve and hem of the skirt.

Black Flowers Worn on Evening Frocks

Despite all the gaiety displayed in the many colorful evening frocks so far this season, Paris now advances the dictum that black flowers are chic, and so no costume is really complete without one of them. Fortunately, the choice is varied and includes the frailest as well as the most sturdy looking gardenia. Chiffon carnations in such sizes that they form a cloud on the shoulder are decidedly becoming on any of the pastel evening dresses. Velvet gardenia, roses and petal flowers are worn where a decided touch of black is required to tone down a too vivid color.

More Trimming Noted on Latest Millinery

Hats are growing more feminine. That is, they are exhibiting more trimming even on the small and plain varieties. On the small felt hats these usually take the form of a bunch of flowers or an aigrette of cock's feathers placed at the right side. Many simple leather hats, especially those of doeskin and kidskin, are trimmed with coils to match the coats with which they are worn. For afternoon wear, turbans are decidedly in the mode.

Satin Hats Are in Vogue

The modern woman has two bugaboos. One is not to be in the mode. The other is to be dressed like someone else. Originality and personality in costuming and still conform to the same general trend of the fashions worn by all—that is not easy. But it has been made easier by the vogue for satin hats. These are high of crown and narrow of brim. They are youthful and still permit of original crown treatments and folds.

Buttons as Decorations

Buttons and buttonholes along the side seam, reaching right from hem to shoulder, is one English dressmaker's way of decorating a simple velvet winter frock. The buttons are the size of a silver American dollar. On one long-sleeved, black velvet frock, antique silver buttons were used while on a navy blue crepe de chine the necessary touch of color was obtained by big flat red buttons.

Knickers Replace Petticoats

Feminine fancy leans more and more to the "breeches" and the latest addition to the well-stocked lingerie drawer of the English woman are the "charleston knickers" made of satin or crepe de chine. These are finished with a deep band of elastic which covers the knee and gives firm support. Dance dresses have a pair to match as no petticoats are worn.

The Correct Costume

One hesitates to apply the word practical to fashions. It is a quality usually overlooked in favor of the more conspicuous attributes of chic and charm. On the other hand, for many women it is an essential quality and one that they look for when selecting clothes. The costume that combines all three is sure to achieve success.

Hope Eternal

Hope springs eternal in the human breast and merchants are taking full advantage of that fact. One of the latest model reducing girdles is equipped with a special front clasp, which may be removed, thus allowing the corset to become smaller as the hoped-for reduction in weight takes place.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES IN EVIDENCE

George U. Marvin Gives List of Those Whose Lightning Rods are Already Up.

Ohio Republicans are to face a plethora of candidates seeking the nomination for governor next year. The large number which has graced the contests in the two last gubernatorial primary campaigns, will seem as trifling as a ten cent piece at a dollar banquet.

Including those, who are regarded as practically in the race and those who are suggested as of gubernatorial timber, the list reaches some 20.

The first group includes Congressmen James T. Begg, of the 13th district; Myers Y. Cooper, of Cincinnati, defeated in the election last November; former Lieutenant Governor Charles H. Lewis, Upper Sandusky, who was a candidate in 1926, until the primaries drew near; former Secretary of State Thad Brown, who remained in the race until the close and was second to Myers Y. Cooper in the number of votes received and former State Director of Agriculture L. J. Taber, now master of the National Grange. Mr. Taber has been prominently mentioned in the past two primary contests but other interests prevented him from making a campaign. He has now decided to place himself among the list of candidates, if the call is sufficiently strong to offer hope of success.

Classed among these in the preferred list may also be placed former Supreme Court Judge George H. Clark of Canton, who has received no little consideration at the hands of party leaders; Congressman John C. Cooper, of Youngstown, representing the 14th district, whose strength with the drys and women's organizations is recognized and former State Treasurer Harry S. Day, of Fremont, who was also a candidate with a creditable showing in the primaries of 1926.

This constitutes the names of those in front rank who are regarded in all ways as candidates, lacking only public announcement. It includes men of rank, ability, and high prominence and is sufficiently formidable to promise excitement and a generous contest at the polls.

In the Next Class

The second list, including those who are suggested as having fitting qualifications, is larger than the other by a considerable number. It opens the gates and bids all enter. Nearly every Republican congressman in the state has his name on the slate. Of course some will be erased but enough to awaken public interest and provoke an interesting contest will remain.

Outside the congressmen another name has come in of such importance as to cause no little flutter of comment. This is State Senator Chester C. Bolton, of Cleveland, the Republican floor leader in the upper branch of the legislature, a successful business man of large interests and an executive of uncommon skill. The senator has not announced himself, is shy as a bashful boy at a red ear corn husking bee, but would not refuse the nomination if it came up to shake hands with him and held out the open door, with welcome on the mat. He could easily become a most formidable candidate and if the wishes of friends are followed will be drawn into the dragnet of the primary.

With such a company of men, either directly seeking the gubernatorial nomination or waiting on the outside in a hopeful attitude, it requires no elastic mind to picture the battlefield of next year and the disappointed hopes, with which it will be strewn. It is impossible to stand 20 men up with a nomination of such high honor as the mark and prevent all but one from hitting the bulls eye. The result depends upon the one who shoots the straightest.

This represents the epitomized view on the Republican side.

Fewer Democratic Candidates.

The Democratic viewpoint presents a different picture. It is regarded as certain Governor Donahey will not seek another term as chief executive of the state. He will probably not be immune to further political honors but it will be as a member of the United States senate and not again as the head of the state government. Congressman Fletcher, of Marion, and John McSweeney, of Wooster, have been mentioned as candidates on the Democratic side but as soon as their names are suggested a friend rises to say, "No, we want him for the United States senate and not for the governor." So these men, eminent in the party and trained in service, are looked upon as candidates for the senatorship and not as desiring to be in the chair of Ohio's chief executive.

Based on the outlook, as it presents itself, and this is taken from expressions of a large number of leaders, the man now leading on the Democratic side for the gubernatorial nomination is Martin L. Davey, of Kent, Portage county, representing the 14th Ohio district in congress.

Many arguments are presented in Davey's behalf but most potent among these is the fact that altho living in a Republican district he has been elected as a Democrat for several terms.

Moreover he is regarded as the leader in the country in the rapidly developing trend towards national conservation.

But Davey is in congress. He seems to be enjoying it and gives us no evidence of longing for another place. He does not declare himself on the gubernatorial matter.

"I am in congress now and my first duty is to my present constituents. When the time comes I may have a statement to make regarding the gubernatorial situation. But I do not feel that time has arrived."

Boiled down to a simple proposition it would appear that Davey is in the lead but he cannot be considered an avowed candidate until he stands up in class and says son.—George U. Marvin.

RACE RIOT AT COFFEYVILLE, KANSAS

NEGROE'S ATTACK ON GIRLS CAUSE MOB TO STORM JAIL

Troops Called: When Frenzied Men Attempt to Sieze Negroes Held As Suspects—Prisoners Were Spirited Away—Gang of Boys Start Trouble In the Black Quarter and Get the Worst of It—Martial Law Declared—Town Has An Unsavory Reputation.

Race war broke out at Coffeyville, Kansas, late Friday when a mob of white persons, who had besieged the city jail in an effort to seize three negroes arrested in connection with an assault on two white girls, attempted to invade the Negro quarter.

The whites were repulsed and at least three persons were shot.

The armed clash came after a group of white youths had kicked in a door of a hardware store and obtained arms and ammunition. About 100 shots were exchanged.

Martial law was proclaimed and guards placed over every hardware store in town. Steps were begun to disarm all citizens.

A guard was thrown about the Negro quarter as a result of threats that homes would be burned.

Negroes had apparently anticipated invasion of their district as they immediately opened fire when the white mob appeared.

The clash came after a group of youths had shattered practically every window in the City hall and failed in several attempts to storm the jail.

Troop B, Kansas National Guard unit stationed there called out a few hours before, arrived shortly after the shooting occurred and for the time being assumed control of the situation. The men are carrying full war equipment and wearing steel helmets.

The crowd soon returned, some hearing shotguns, and more trouble was feared.

A fire hose strung thru the City hall as an aid in repulsing the attack was cut to shreds and carried away.

Windows in several downtown business establishments were shattered by the flying bullets.

Tear gas guns fired into the crowd apparently served only to increase the anger and feeling against the Negroes which stood at fever heat thruout the day and was fanned into a flame.

Other Negroes appeared on the scene before the two had risen from the street and immediately opened fire.

William Waddle, 17, white a printer's apprentice, was taken to a hospital with buckshot in his legs and a revolver wound in his hand.

The youth was in the line of fire but was not accompanying those who had started into the Negro region.

The sight of the youth's blood brought another outburst of threats and more than 100 men and boys left the downtown district with cries for more guns.

Urged on by older members, boys between 19 and 21 years old let loose a barrage of rocks at the City Hall and the crashing of glass from the windows was interspersed with cheers from onlookers.

An effort was made to obtain gasoline for the intention of firing the City hall in an effort to force an entrance to the jail. All filling stations were closed, however, and this was abandoned.

The boys returned to the building with a replenished supply of stones and the assault was resumed with vigor.

No effort was made by the officers and guards inside the building to halt this and an American flag which waved from a front window of the hall was greeted with jeers.

Five young men were arrested charged with breaking into the hardware stores and looting the stocks of guns and ammunition. Several others were disarmed and their guns confiscated.

Authorities announced that two of the Negroes, Vanges and Garvin Hardin, brothers, had cleared themselves and were released from custody.

Three units of the Kansas National Guard were called out by Governor Paulen to render assistance to civil authorities at Coffeyville.

The third suspect, Curtis Smith, a barber, was taken away on a fire truck, hidden beneath a pile of hose and rushed to an unrevealed destination. He is being held for further investigation.

MRS. MARY FRYBACH DEAD.

Mrs. Mary Frybach, widow of Laban G. Frybach, passed away Friday morning at 3:30 at her home in Kingston after a short illness with heart trouble. Mr. Frybach died November 11, 1926.

Mrs. Frybach, who was Miss Mary Prendible before her marriage, leaves to mourn her loss, one son, William and a granddaughter, Dorothy Frybach, of LaJunto, Colorado; two sisters, Mrs. Ellen Rice of St. Louis, Miss Joanna Prendible of Kingston and two brothers, Thomas, of Oklahoma, and William of Kingston.

Funeral arrangements have not as yet been completed awaiting the arrival of her son who will probably reach Kingston Sunday.

Sneeze, but Don't Sniff, English Doctor's Advice

London.—Sneezing one's way to health is the latest fad as advocated by Dr. Octavia Lewin and other physicians. "Never stifle a sneeze," she advised health visitors and school nurses at Bedford college.

"Remember, the fundamental fact of health is sound, healthy breathing through the nose," cautioned Doctor Lewin, who continued: "Never sniff. Here is a verse to keep in mind: 'Sniffing's bad for brain and head. Sniff not—blow your nose instead.' 'Lack of nasal hygiene is very largely responsible for defects of the eyes. It will be found that nearly all the children in our school who wear spectacles have clogged heads.'"

"Humans should take a lesson from the animals. Take the elephant. If he, with a yard and a half of nose, can keep his head clear, surely we ought to be able to do something with our children. Even the little mouse and the canary know how to sneeze."

Cleveland—Two deaths were reported and traffic was delayed Friday night as a result of a dense fog that enveloped downtown Cleveland.

Cleveland—Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton today had made no move to lodge George J. Mackay, alleged swindle ring leader in jail. This despite Mackay's reported surrender early Friday to representatives of the prosecutor's office.

Canton—as a result of the appointment of counsel, Floyd Streitenberger former city detective, will be arraigned next week on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Don R. Mellett.

Marietta—Hidden in a wooded ravine at Davis Run, West Virginia, a sheriff's posse came upon Logan Drake and his two companions who escaped from the county jail Thursday night. James Deems and Hugh Allender were captured early this morning, but Drake, alleged leader of the gang, escaped in the darkness in a hidden row boat on the Ohio river.

Urbana—Six men paid fines in Mayor C. C. Craig's court as a result of a poker party which came to an abrupt end early Tuesday when a bandit held up the five players and escaped with jewels and cash valued at more than $13,000.

James Rawlings, proprietor of the American hotel where the game was in progress, was fined $10 for permitting the men to play. Five others, victims of the masked robber, also paid $10 fines.

Barber Invents Way to Fool His Women Patrons

Seattle, Wash.—So many women harass men barbers over their belief that too much hair is bobbed that George Seaton, master barber, has invented an apron with a continuous pocket around the neck part to catch the hair. Unseen by his patrons, there is little complaint now over the amount cut off. The idea is favored over the hair bobbing district. Seaton declares the sight of their hair dropping over the apron is too much for some women patrons and they remonstrate until valuable time is lost disquieting their fears.

DEATH CALLS JOEL G. DICK OF PERRY TWP.

Was Member of New Holland
Masonic Lodge and Purity
Chapter Eastern Star.

Many relatives and friends in the community were saddened, when Joel G. Dick, well known and prosperous farmer, was taken by death, at about 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, March 15. He had been in very poor health in recent months but had not complained of feeling worse until a few hours before his death. Death followed quickly and apparently without suffering. He would have reached his 65th birthday anniversary, next month.

Mr. Dick having lived the greater part of his life in this community, was well known and loved by virtually all citizens. His marked congenial manner and kind friendly attitude won and retained hundreds of friends for him.

Having chosen farming as his life profession, he loved to be in the fields and about the premises of his farm. He was a faithful and active member of the Church of Christ, one of the older members of New Holland Lodge No. 392, F. & A. M., and a member of Purity Chapter No. 65, O. E. S.

Besides being survived by his wife two daughters, Mrs. Inez Andrews, and Mrs. Ethel Owens, are left to mourn the loss of a father. Another daughter, Mrs. Jane Lininger, preceded him in death about seven years. Three sisters, Mrs. Julia Hyer, of Bellefontaine; Mrs. Sadie Turner and Mrs. Ella Kirk and two daughters, Aden, of Daytona, Florida, and Chauncey, also survive.

Funeral services were held at the old Dick homestead, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Andrews, where the body was taken after the death. The service was held at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon and was in charge of Rev. A. L. Vandegriff, of East Liberty, a former pastor of the West Holland M. E. charge, and a personal friend of the deceased. Burial was made in the family lot in the New Holland cemetery.—New Holland Leader.

Wins $100 for Eating 34 Hot Dogs, No Rolls

Newark, N. J.—Eighty-four "hot dogs" without a single roll! That's the food-swallowing record Anthony Luongo of Montclair, N. J., has chalked up for himself, and he is $100 richer than before he tackled the yards of frankfurters that passed through his jaws. The $100 was wagered at a previous "hot dog" consuming exhibition in Bloomfield, N. J. It required two hours and fifteen minutes to accomplish the feat.

NEWS ABOUT COURT HOUSE

General Happenings Taken
From the Records of the Various County
Offices.

Will of E. T. Tootle.

The will and codicils thereto of the late Edward Tiffin Tootle has been probated and the following bequests were made by the testator:

Leroy Tootle 38.5 acres of the Monroe W. Tootle farm, 64.5 acres of the Milton J. Tootle farm and 80.5 acres of the Andrew Hellmuth farm, and also the sum of $3,000.

To James Robert Tootle two tracts of land in Wayne township, containing 156.92 acres and $3,000. He is also given the tract of land of three acres and 28 poles purchased of Urias Waples.

To Martha Fulton Tootle Kerr two tracts of land in Wayne township, containing 156.92 acres and the sum of $3,000.

Mary Spear Tootle is given the tract of land in Wayne township described as No. 3, and containing 156.92 and $3,000.

Elizabeth Jane Tootle Parrett is given the sum of $17,000, in lieu of real estate.

The testator says that he recently arranged to lease his farm to his son, James Robert Tootle, on terms of one half of the grain, the son having purchased all testator's teams and farming implements, stock and machinery that he considered him as a partner and in view of this fact he has the right as my surviving partner to purchase this property at its appraised value.

The farm in Ross county has been occupied by his son, Leroy Tootle, on terms of paying the taxes and keeping up the repairs from year to year, therefore, no further accounting shall be required of him.

The residue of the estate not herein disposed of shall be converted into money and be divided equally among the five children. The executors are authorized to dispose of the chattel property at private sale at their discretion.

Leroy Tootle and James R. Tootle were named executors. The former having died James R. Tootle was appointed sole executor. The executor is to receive $200 and expenses.

The will is dated November 12, 1919; the codicils August 23, 1922 and August 27, 1925.

The household goods and furniture is to be equally divided among the children.

I. N. Abernethy, Wealthy Abernethy and Mary Vieth are the subscribing witnesses.

The estate is estimated to be worth $74,500 of which $42,000 is personal. William Barthelmas, George Wardell and J. F. Simkins were appointed appraisers.

Appointed Administrators

Mrs. Joel G. Dick and Carl Andrews were appointed administrators of the estate of the late Joel G. Dick by Judge Adkins Saturday. The estate is estimated to be worth $13,000 of which $3,000 is personal. Douglass Binns, J. T. Timmons and Albert Grimes were appointed appraisers.

Court Appoints Attorneys.

H. B. Weaver was appointed by the court to defend Beryl Hill, an indigent prisoner, who was indicted on the charge of cutting with intent to wound.

C. A. Weldon was appointed by the court to defend Ira Taylor, an indigent prisoner, who was indicted by the April term of court on the charge of failure to provide for a legitimate child.

FRED POWELL'S AUTO STRIKES ANDREW STEEL

by Auto on Adelphi Pike
This Morning.

Fred Powell, of Laurelville, formerly of this city, leader of the Adelphi band, ran into and knocked down Andrew Steel on the Adelphi pike coming to this city Saturday morning.

It seems Mr. Steel, who is 70 years of age, was walking along the road when he was overtaken by the auto. Mr. Powell tried to run around him, and swerved his machine to the side of the road, but Mr. Steel ran in the same direction and was hit. Mr. Powell brought the injured man to this city and took him to the office of Dr. Howard Jones, where surgical attention was given him. He was later taken in Mader & Ebert's ambulance to the home of his sister, Mrs. George Riffle on the Adelphi pike, who lives within a stone's throw of where the accident occurred.
